

Daisy has been a resident of Colorado since 2016 where she has worked in Human Resources and Recruiting for several manufacturing companies in the community. Prior to that, she worked in the Los Angeles market as an Operations Manager and Human Resource Manager for an overall 16+ years of experience. There, she worked with many clients in diverse industries in both the private and government sectors where she contributed to the creation of standard operating procedures, strategies for client growth, service improvement plans, operational site assessments, and safety education programs, among other initiatives. Now as an HR Consultant for BBSI, she offers strategic guidance to her clients in recruiting, compliance, training, and employee relations for seamless business operations. Daisy has a passion for helping people and takes pride in the work she performs. She completed her bachelor's degree in Sociology at California State University, Northridge and now lives in Colorado Springs with her family and cats enjoying the beautiful mountain view every day.
